Married Men's Meeting.

The meeting of the married men whose wives have gone east or are absent from the city, was well attended.

The court room was pre-occupied and possession retained by the Wide Awake, who were out in superior force, in consequence of a special meeting of the club and an unusual attendance of the members of that organization, and the meeting adjourned to the large room in Woollicroft's saloon.

As the oldest sufferer, the meeting was called to order by J. S. Parker, on whose motion N. S. Lund was chosen president. J. S. Parker was then elected vice president, and A. A. Jackson secretary.

The officers having been appointed, the meeting united in singing "Come ye disconsolate." In the performance of this piece the base decidedly preponderated.

The object of the meeting was then stated by Willard Merrill, esq. He thought a feeling of sympathy and condolence quite as appropriate as indignation, and suggested a permanent organization for mutual aid and protection. He closed by reading Burns' "Cotter's Saturday Night," which produced a visible effect upon the meeting. Isaac Woodie, Wm. Addy and Cha's Holt were appointed a committee on resolutions.

A temporary adjournment took place to await the report of the committee, during which the members were thoughtfully supplied with a glass of Sands' best XXX ale by the kind-hearted landlady of the house.

The committee on resolutions reported the following:

Resolved, That the habit of the married women of this city, leaving their homes and families for long visits to relatives and friends, is becoming so serious an evil that it demands the speedy adoption of some effective cure.

Resolved, That while we entertain the highest respect and a proper degree of affection for our "eastern cousins" and "relatives by the wife's side," we nevertheless have a deeper reverence for that portion of the marital vow which binds the wife to minister at all times at the family altar, and to that scriptural duty which requires a woman to forsake all others and cleave unto her husband alone.

Resolved, That our thanks are not due, and are not tendered, to the "gentlemanly and affable" railroad conductors who superintend the safety of our wives and children in their flight from homes prepared and sustained at a heavy expense by ourselves; and that we reprobate the invasion of railroads as destructive to domestic enjoyment and personal comfort.

Resolved, That we heartily endorse the suggestion of a permanent organization for mutual aid and protection, and that we recommend to the married men of our city to give it their countenance and support.

Resolved, That entertaining a due regard for the social relations of "our circle," the members of this association take upon themselves to keep up the "calls" of the absent ones during their absence from home.

These resolutions were unanimously adopted, and were enthusiastically received by the members, and afforded conclusive proof that the nursery had, in other days, received a proper share of attention.

At this stage of the proceedings a healthy, plump and smiling baby was presented to the president. This memento of departed domestic joys and wedded love was passed to each member of the meeting, and if the demonstrations of affection bestowed upon it would have been ludicrous to a mere spectator of the scene, it certainly drew out what may possibly be considered a dormant virtue in some of the parents present.

Many of the attempts to imitate the maternal dialect were very successful efforts, and afforded conclusive proof that the nursery had, in other days, received a proper share of attention.

Levi Alden, H. W. Stratton, Roland West, Josiah Wright and Winfield S. Chase were appointed a committee to report a plan for a permanent organization, including committees to obtain information upon the various departments of housekeeping.

The meeting closed by Col. Ezra Miller singing "Days of Absence" in a very pathetic manner.

BRIDING.—Myers' splendid brick block on the southeast corner of Main and Milwaukee streets is now three stories, and begins to exhibit its fine proportions. It will be an ornament to our city. Mr. Pease has his brick block on Main street up two stories and it will make a substantial appearance when completed. We understand that Jackman & Smith are about to commence the foundation of a business block on the north west corner of Main and Milwaukee streets, now occupied by the Rock County bank, &c. This shows that the business of Janesville is increasing, and that our city steadily marches forward in improvement no matter whether times are good or bad.

A LARGE MELON PATCH.—Messrs. Binkley and Husband, of Union in this county, have a melon patch which for size and the quality of the melons produced, we think cannot be beaten in the west. They have cultivated this season, ten acres of various kinds of melons; and left with us today a specimen of their "Mountain Sweet" and "nutmegs," which were very fine. Newell & Dearborn, B. F. Pendleton and D. Davis are constantly supplied with these delicious melons.

Good Yield.—In a conversation with Mr. John Wallahan, one of the most intelligent citizens of the town of Center, he gave as his opinion that one half of the tillable portion of that town was sown to wheat the present year, and that the average yield, so far it has been tested by the threshing machine, is 30 bushels to the acre. The poorest field in the town yielded 27 bushels to the acre, and a field belonging to Mr. Seth Fisher gave 38 bushels to the acre,

JANESVILLE, Aug. 21.

Editors Gazette:—In your paper of this eve, there are two items that I wish to notice. One comments on the communication from Janesville to the Chicago Times & Herald signed "G." and the other article is in reference to the reform school at Waushara, also signed "G." At the close of your remarks you ask why the correspondent of the Times & Herald did not send his communication to the Cleveland Plain Dealer, therefore implying that this as well as a former letter was written by the same person. Now I admit that I sent a letter you have heretofore commented upon, but do not admit that I should be charged with every article signed "G." because my signature is "G. R. C." You might as well charge me with the whole signatures in the catalogue. Were I entitled to the Times & Herald letter, I would not be ashamed of it, as every word of it is truly but as for the article signed "G." I have to say that I have had to do with reform (politically) but once.

Once upon a time I had strong tendency towards republicanism, but having my eyes opened, I saw the folly of the tendency and did reform and stuck to the good old democratic ship. Since which time I have had no occasion to reform, and have had no need of visiting a reform school. Therefore, do not give me more than my share of notoriety. Now, Charles, hoping that you will realize no bad effect by being "wood and won by the musical God," and that hereafter, you will not try to steal the "Big Lignum" (see Green Bay reports), and that you will receive the much needed reform, I remain,

In this region the drouth is extreme.

We have had no rain of any consequence for many weeks. The dust in the roads is deep, the earth parched, and vegetation drying up. This forenoon the sky is clouded and it looks like rain, as it has done many times before, without accomplishing its object.
